

A black and white illustration of a hand holding a long, narrow cloth. The cloth is held taut and has the words "TAKE IT ALL OFF!" written on it in a bold, sans-serif font. Below the cloth, the top of a T-53 engine is visible, showing the upper airfilter housing and the engine inlet. The hand is positioned on the left side of the cloth, and the cloth extends to the right, where it is held by another hand or a surface.

TAKE IT ALL OFF!

When you clean the Huey (UH-1) T-53 engine, take off both halves of the particle separator, knucklebusters. If you do your thing with the upper airfilter off and the lower airfilter on, only half the engine inlet will get cleaned.
